Miss Kate Sanborn, of Boston, gives morning lectures. She would give evening lectures, but she isn't married.

Forest City.

According to all the prophets and prophecies our winter has begun for a while.

One more leap year party is to take place before the "one in four" leaves us.

A large party of young folks were invited to Mr. Fry's last Friday evening in honor of their son who has returned from the West. He took great pains to let the young ladies know that he came for the especial purpose of getting a wife, and that if he returned without one it would not be his fault. Oh ye Gods! It would have done the heart of our editor (no insinuation, at all) good to have seen the blushing and casting down of eyes, upon the receipt of this bit of information. But imagine—if you can—the consternation that followed when the company were informed that it was too bad. All the girls that Jane liked were engaged, and those who were not engaged he did not like. Soon after, the party arrived at their destination they were invited out to supper. They found the table loaded with everything calculated to satisfy the wants of hungry humanity. It is unnecessary to state that justice was done the sumptuous supper. After an evening spent with music, plays, some dancing, and much fun, the young folks walked back, getting here about one o'clock or half past. It was unanimously voted "a very pleasant party."

We are sorry to learn that "Boss" Adams is chilling again.

Mr. Will Orr passed through here Monday on his way home. There must be some greater attraction than "laying up a stock of goods" in St. Joe for him, judging from the number of visits there. Madam Rumor says he is trying to secure a legal right to a Ford.

RELIABLE.

—Three Irishmen, who had dug a ditch for $4, were quite at loss to know how to divide the pay "aqually." But one of the number had been to school, and reached division in arithmetic, so it was left to him. He did it, saying, "It's aisy enough. There's two for you two, and two for me, too." The two received their portion with a greatly increased respect for the advantages which learning gives to a man.

THE WEATHER.—Said a very good old man, "Some folk are always complaining about the weather, but I am very thankful when I wake up in the morning and find any weather at all." We may smile at the simplicity of the good old man, but still his language indicates a spirit that contributes much to a calm and peaceful life. It is wiser and better to cultivate that than to be continually complaining of things as they are.

—A convicted Texas murderer, in his confession, opens in this style: "I scratch you a few lines to let you know that I still float through the gentle breeze of misery; but, according to the decision of the appellate court, I guess it is about 'pea time' with me, but then we must bear our misfortunes in this world like men."
